12.—(1) Subject to section 11, no person shall bore or drill a development well,

(a) within 500 feet of the boundary of land to which gas or oil rights of another person pertain but, where such boundary is also the boundary of a road allowance or right of way for a highway or railroad, the 500 feet shall be measured from the centre line of such road allowance, highway or railroad; or

(b) within 1,000 feet of a well capable of producing gas or oil from the same horizon as the development well to be bored or drilled.

(2) Where a well is bored or drilled into and not below a formation of Devonian age, the spacing required by clauses a and b of subsection 1 is reduced to 250 feet and 500 feet, respectively.

13.—(1) Where an exploratory well is bored or drilled into and not below a formation of Devonian age, the well shall be on a tract of at least $6\frac{1}{4}$ acres in respect of which the person boring or drilling the well is the sole producer.

(b) relating measurements, distances and bearings to fixed surveyors' marks where possible or, where it is not possible, relating the measurements, distances and bearings to a suitable base line or a permanent topographical feature.

(3) No person shall bore or drill a development well into a pool referred to in subsection 1 until the application has been made and disposed of.

15.—(1) Subject to subsection 2, no person shall bore or drill a well in a spacing unit in a place other than the target area thereof.

(2) The Minister may, in a permit to bore or drill a well, authorize the holder to bore or drill the well in a place other than the target area, if the Minister is satisfied that to do so will not affect the just and equitable sharing in the production from the pool.

16.—(1) Where there are two or more producers or two or more royalty owners in a spacing unit, the producers and royalty owners shall pool their interests for the development and operation of the unit.

(2) In the absence of voluntary pooling, any producer in a spacing unit may apply to the Lieutenant Governor in Council for regulations requiring and regulating the joining of the various interests within the spacing unit for the purpose of drilling or operating a well and the apportioning of the costs and the benefits of such drilling or operation.

DRILLING AND COMPLETION

17. All casing, tubing and equipment used in the drilling or production of a well shall be in good condition, adequate for the depths to be drilled and the pressures that may be encountered.

18.—(1) Every producer of a well drilled with cable tools shall plan and effect a casing and cementing programme for the well to protect fresh water horizons, to protect any potential oil-bearing or gas-bearing horizons penetrated during drilling operations and to prevent the harmful migration of gas, oil or water from one horizon to another.

(2) Where rotary drilling equipment is used, sufficient surface casing shall be run to protect all domestic fresh water horizons, and such surface casing shall be cemented by displacement or pump with adequate time allowed for the cement to set.

19.—(1) The producer of a well that is being drilled, tested, completed, stimulated or reconditioned shall provide and maintain casing and control equipment in such condition that any oil, gas or water encountered can be effectively controlled.

(2) Control equipment shall be adequate, having regard to the depth to be drilled, the expected pressure and the necessity in case of blow-out of obtaining a shut-off around any equipment being employed in the well.

(3) While a well is being drilled, control equipment shall be tested daily and the results of such tests shall be recorded in the daily record.

(4) The producer shall ensure that control equipment is serviceable at all times.

(5) Controls for the operation of control equipment shall be readily accessible to the driller under all conditions.

(6) Control equipment shall include in the assembly two valved lines not less than two inches in diameter below the valve or blow-out preventer for the purpose of bleeding off fluids and killing the well if necessary.

(7) The producer shall not permit a well to flow uncontrolled.

(8) Each producer shall report to an inspector immediately by the quickest effective means any well flowing uncontrolled.

20.—(1) In producing wells, strings of casing intermediate between the production casing and the surface casing shall not be recovered unless the production casing is cemented to a level above any and all strata containing mineral water, oil or gas.

(2) The surface casing shall not be recovered from any producing well.

21. Upon the plugging or final completion of a well and as soon thereafter as weather and ground conditions permit, the producer shall cause the area around the well to be cleared of refuse and waste, excavations and pits to be filled and levelled and the site to be restored as nearly as is practicable to its condition before drilling was commenced.

22. The surface equipment of a completed well shall be arranged to permit the measurement of the tubing pressure and open flow and the sampling of oil, gas and water.

WATER-COVERED AREAS

23.—(1) In this section, "well" means a well in a water-covered area.

(2) An applicant for a permit to bore or drill a well shall furnish proof to the Minister that he has subsisting insurance, adequate to provide compensation for all damage to others caused by the drilling operations.

(3) An applicant for a licence to produce gas or oil from a well shall furnish proof to the Minister of subsisting insurance, adequate to provide compensation for all damage to others caused by the production operations.

(4) A licence for a machine for boring or drilling a well is issued on the condition that the machine is not used to bore or drill wells in a water-covered area unless the holder of the licence furnishes proof to the Minister of subsisting insurance, adequate to provide compensation for all damage to others caused by the machine, or by any vessel or craft or barge used to transport men or materials to the machine.

(5) When any person has encountered oil in a well or is boring or drilling a well in an area where oil may reasonably be expected to be encountered, he shall, in addition to the requirements of the other provisions of this Regulation, provide in operating condition oil-saving and discharge equipment and emergency oil storage.

(7) The production or other casing in producing wells shall be cemented.

(8) The well-head equipment in producing wells shall provide a solid and permanent water-tight seal between the water and the annular spaces between strings of casing.

(9) Subject to subsection 10, where the well-head of a producing well is above the bottom of the water, the over-all height of the well-head assembly shall be kept to a minimum.

(10) The well-head of producing wells completed in shallow water where ice or navigation is a hazard shall be encased in a cellar below the bottom of the water.

(11) After the final completion or plugging of a well, any platform, piling, anchor-post or other obstruction shall be removed as soon as is reasonably possible, and in any case within thirty days.

(12) Where a well-head is not in a cellar, the producer of the well shall mark the well-head with a tapered wooden pole fitted with a sinker and orange flag, secured to the well-head with a nylon line, and shall maintain such mark.

(13) No person shall remove or damage a pole erected under subsection 12, other than the producer required to maintain the pole.

(14) When a well is plugged, any casing left in the hole shall be cut off at the bottom of the water.

PLUGGING

24.—(1) All dry or abandoned wells shall be plugged in a manner that will,

- (a) ensure protection for potential oil or natural gas producing horizons;
- (b) prevent the harmful infiltration of water into water, gas, oil or salt horizons;
- (c) constitute no hazard to users of the surface; and
- (d) notwithstanding the absence of water, oil, gas or salt, seal off strata from those above.

(2) The plugging material shall be cement with such other materials as is necessary.
